GENERAL GRANT.

Celebration of the Anniversary of His Birth.

The American Club at Pittsburgh Gives Its Annual Dinner—Senator Sherman and Other Distinguished Men Make Speeches.

PITTSBURGH, PA., April 27.—The second annual dinner of the American Club, of this city, in commemoration of the birthday of General Grant, was given this evening at the Monongahela House, covers for two hundred being laid. The dining-room was tastefully decorated and a large portrait of Grant was draped. On the opposite side of the room was a crayon portrait of Roscoe Conkling, which was also heavily draped. As the guests marched into the room to the music of the orchestra, Governor Beaver, Senator Sherman, Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana; Hon. J. P. Foster, New York; Hon. John C. New, Colonel Fred. Grant, Hon. Richard Smith, of Cincinnati, and others were escorted to seats at the table in the center of the spacious rooms. The guests were greeted with enthusiasm, after which prayer was offered by Dr. Lesk, and dinner was served. After dinner, which was one of the most elaborate ever given here, the orchestra gave "Marching Through Georgia," the company joining in the chorus.

Hon. John Dalzell, on the part of the American Club, extended a cordial welcome to the distinguished guests present. He spoke eloquently of the services of Senator Sherman, and his allusions to Ex-Senator Harrison, Colonel Fred Grant and others were greeted with cheers.

Mr. H. H. Tyram, of this city, was then introduced and responded to "Our Absent Guests." In the course of his remarks Mr. Tyram said: "There is one who might have been here tonight, but who has forever departed from among us, in whose memory it is fitting that this club, which he honored with his confidence and esteem, and through whom he first broke the silence of years and gave expression to his unsullied and unalterable adhesion to the accepted truths of the Republican party, should pay a tribute of respect. Here, whether present or absent, the name of Hon. Roscoe Conkling has been held in love and veneration, and though gone from all the activities of life, he yet speaks to us from pictured effigy, and is entitled to such a welcome at my hand as honor without breath of honor may make tender of. In eulogy we might run the alphabet of adjectives, but let it suffice to say of him as was said so many years ago of one less worthy by one whose words are indelible: 'He was the dignity and height of honor. The high imperial type of earth's glory.'

Hon. Wm. M. Evarts sent a letter of regret. The letters called for considerable enthusiasm, especially those from Hon. Simon Cameron, Judge Gresham, Hon. Wm. Evarts, General Sheridan and Governor Foraker.

A letter from the late Roscoe Conkling accepting an invitation to attend the dinner awakened the deepest feeling.

Senator Sherman was next introduced, and responded to the toast, "Grant."

In response to the toast, "U. S. Grant," Senator Sherman said: I deem it an honor to be called upon by your club on this sixty-sixth anniversary of the birthday of General Grant to present in brief words this typical American citizen, this illustrious soldier, this patriotic President. By his tenacious courage and skill the armies of the Union were led from victory to victory, from Belmont to Appomattox, until every enemy of the Republic laid down his arms in unconditional surrender. He won from foreign nations reparation for injuries done to us during the war. He did more than any one else to preserve untarnished the public credit and honor. Heroic to the end, in the hours of death he won his greatest victory by the story of his life, told in words so plain, truthful, charitable and eloquent that it will become as classic as "The Commentaries of Cæsar," but more glorious as the record of a patriot who saved the country, instead of a conqueror who overthrew its liberties. His services in the army include the whole history of the war, an epic now being told in huge volumes of "Records of the War of the Rebellion," and in innumerable memoirs of those who participated in it. It is enough to say that in these "Records" the name of Grant will be oftener mentioned than any other; that he fought and commanded in a greater number of battles than any other soldier in that war, living or dead; that, with rare and doubtful exceptions, his battles were victories; that in the number of his command, in the wide extent of the field of his operations and in the completeness of his success, no commander of modern ages, not even Napoleon, excelled him. Not only will the image of Grant, as the great military hero of the war, rise higher and higher in the roll of fame as time goes on, but the object of the war, its motive and aim, the intense desire to perpetuate the Union, which guided the councils and inspired the hearts of our loyal people, will become more manifest, so that all classes of people, whether children of the North or South, of Federals or Confederates, white or black, will speak of it and think of it, not as the war of the rebellion, but as the war for the Union, and of Grant as the preserver, as Washington was the founder, of our country.

As to the civil life of General Grant, I have always doubted whether it would not have been better for him to have remained General of the Army during his life than to have undertaken the civil duties of a President of the United States. This doubt is not founded so much upon what he did as President, but upon the striking differences in the duties of the two offices and the training, qualifications and personal traits demanded for each, that whether this view is correct or not, the earnest desire of the people of the United States was that General Grant should be rewarded with the highest honor in their gift; and this feeling was shared by many Confederates, who were touched by the generous forbearance of General Grant in arranging the terms of the surrender.

But it is not as a great hero, the commander of armies, or as President of the United States, that you wish to hear of Grant. It is as a man. I said he was a typical American. No strut, no parade, no imitation of royalty or aristocracy, no egotistical pretense of superiority because he held great command or high positions. The most marked characteristic which clung to him in all periods of his life was his extreme modesty.

He was always the same plain, simple, confiding, brave, tenacious and generous man, in war and peace, as the leader of vast armies, as President of the United States, as the guest of Kings and Emperors, and in his final struggle with grim-visaged death. Gentlemen, you do right to commemorate his birthday. It was his good fortune to be the chief instrument of Divine power to secure to you and your posterity the blessing of a free, strong and united country. He was heroic to the end, and you should be equally heroic in maintaining and preserving the rights and privileges and policy for which he contended.

"The Keystone State" was responded to by Governor James A. Beaver, who spoke at length of the loyalty of Pennsylvania to Grant, as expressed by a majority of over 157,000 in 1872.

In response to "Party Organization," Hon. J. P. Foster, of New York, president of the Republican League of the United States, said that since last December 56 clubs had been organized in West Virginia; 400 in Minnesota; nearly 500 in Illinois; 142 in Nebraska; 250 in Michigan; 200 in Indiana; 300 in Wisconsin; 150 in Pennsylvania; 200 in New York, and 100 each in New Jersey and Connecticut.

A Snoring Canary Bird.

Miss Almeda Taft, of Sedorna, Ill., has a canary bird that snores. About two o'clock one night last week its snores became so loud as to arouse the household. A search about the premises failed to reveal the cause of the noise until the sitting-room door was opened and it was found to emanate from the bird-cage. The bird being awakened the noise instantly ceased. The owner of the bird regards it now as a very musical canary, and the neighbors all declare they never heard the like of its snores, which become more pronounced with each succeeding day.

RUSH FOR THE RESERVATION.

Great Scramble for the Blackfeet Lands Soon To Be Open to Settlement.

GREAT FALLS MONT., April 29.—News of the opening of the Blackfeet Reservation is awaited impatiently here and throughout Northern Montana. A large number of persons have gone to the reservation to locate ranches, mines and town sites. The desirable valleys are fairly covered with tents, the greatest rush apparently being to the Big Sandy, the famous hay grounds. Soldiers as well as civilians are on the ground, and when news comes that the bill is signed there is likely to be a rush. Bullhook Valley, beyond Fort Assiniboine, is all staked off and the tents of the squatters may be seen all along the valley of Milk river. There is a silver lode in the Bearpath Mountains that was located several years ago. It is reported that several parties are on hand watching to locate this mine, as well as to prospect for others.

POISON IN THE COFFEE

Causes the Death of a Widow and the Serious Illness of Several Others.

XENIA, ILL., April 29.—A case of wholesale poisoning occurred about five miles south of this place yesterday. A Mrs. Goff, a widow, had been in poor health for some time, and on Saturday Mrs. Robert Evans and Mrs. Griffith visited her, and while there prepared dinner, which was partaken of by five persons, Mrs. Goff, Wm. Goff, her son, Mrs. Griffith and a young man named Clevinger. Shortly afterward all, with the exception of Clevinger, were taken violently sick. Dr. Chatham, of this place, was sent for. Mrs. Goff died during the afternoon. The others will likely recover. The poison was supposed to have been in the coffee, and that is the only article Clevinger did not partake of.

Remarkable For Age.

GERMANTOWN, O., April 29.—Can any other locality in the State beat the ages of the following named family of four brothers and two sisters now living in good health: Mrs. Mary Hemp, eighty-nine; Frederick Thomas, eighty-six; Michael Thomas, eighty-four; Samuel Thomas, eighty; Daniel Thomas, seventy-seven, and Mrs. Susan Frey, seventy-five years of age. Their combined ages is 491 years, or an average of almost eighty-two years. Taking the odd months would make them average a little over eighty-two years. The oldest sister was drowned many years ago, and one brother died a few years ago at eighty years of age.

Miners' Lives Lost.

WILKESBARRE, PA., April 29.—A fearful explosion occurred in Mine No. 4, of the Delaware and Hudson Company, a Plymouth at 5 p. m. this evening. Patrick McGill and J. Kneiss, miners, were instantly killed, Charles O'Connor, a laborer, was so badly burned that his life is despaired of, both eyes being destroyed and his head and body frightfully roasted; Joseph Halloran and William James were badly injured, but will live.

Snowing in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, MINN., April 29.—After three days of rain it began snowing this afternoon, and at 9 p. m. still continues. Specials from St. Peter, Minn., Yankton, and Canton, Dak., report a damp snow falling. This is the latest snow of any spring for five years in South Dakota. While it may delay seeding somewhat it will not damage crops already in the ground.

Death of a Man From Glanders.

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 28.—Thomas M. Turner died yesterday from glanders contracted through treating a sick horse three weeks ago. The virus touched a scratch on his finger. Turner was tried and acquitted for the murder of Mrs. Conway and daughter in 1885.

Heavy Immigration.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Four steamships to-day landed 3,900 immigrants at Castle Garden. The number landed during the week ending to-night is 21,772, of whom one-third were from Italy. There will be 639 more landed to-morrow.

Proposed Gun Foundry.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—It is understood that at an early day Mr. Randall will introduce a bill appropriating $2,000,000 for the establishment of an army gun foundry at Frankford Arsenal for the manufacture of heavy guns.

Fought For a Cow-Boy Lover.

SAN MARCIAL, N. M., April 29.—Mary Lemore and Sarah Ballou, two Mormon girls, fought a duel with pistols about a cow-boy named Whitman, with whom both were in love. The Ballou girl was seriously wounded.

Rains Improve Crop Prospects.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., April 29.—Heavy rains have prevailed throughout Minnesota and Dakota for the last two days, much to the satisfaction of the farmers. Crop prospects are now considered most excellent.

Kills His Sister's Betrayer.

NORFOLK, VA., April 29.—To-night Robert Taylor shot and killed Thomas R. Tennor, a married man, who had betrayed Taylor's sister. The girl was driven insane by shame, and is in a mad-house.

Hottest Day in Years.

BALTIMORE, April 29.—The people of Baltimore sweltered under an scorching sun to-day. It was the hottest April day in this city for eighteen years, the thermometer registering ninety degrees.

Burned to Death.

BATH, N. Y., April 29.—Mrs. Louise Hoyt was burned to death yesterday by her clothes catching fire from a brush-clearing fire.

—A two-story wooden building in Savannah that was erected by the members of Solomon's Lodge in 1799, and was used by the Masonic fraternity until 1858, is now being torn down to make room for a handsome structure. Many a noted Georgian has been initiated into Masonry within its walls, and it was there, in 1850, that General Lopez, the Cuban patriot, who was soon after garroted in Havana, was made a Mason.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

The Floor of a Crowded Hall Gives Way.

Precipitating Hundreds of People a Distance of Twenty Feet—Several Dead Taken from the Ruins—Several Seriously Wounded.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., April 27.—A terrible accident occurred at Rushsylvania, nine miles east of here, on the C., C., C. and I. railway, to-night. A school exhibition was in progress at Brockerman's Hall, situated in the second story of a brick building. The hall seats about four hundred and was crowded to its utmost capacity. Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the floor gave way with a frightful crash. It appeared to sink in the center funnel-shaped, and the entire audience went down in a surging mass to the ground, a distance of twenty or twenty-five feet. As is usual on such occasions, many women and children were present, and their shrieks as they were precipitated with the crashing timbers were heartrending. Every public conveyance in town has been pressed into service, and physicians and help have responded to the appeals for aid in the greatest haste. Mrs. Jennie Alexander, a daughter of Frank Stewart, Mrs. Wright, Harvey Selders, justice of the peace, and one other woman, whose name it is at present unable to ascertain, have been taken out dead, and at least fifty are wounded, many of them badly. The fact that the walls did not fall in proved a blessing. Many more would have been killed outright had that occurred. Quite a number of ladies and children were taken out, some of them unhurt, with their clothing torn completely off them. Later.—As far as can be ascertained, the killed are as follows: Rev. J. E. Alexander's wife, a Miss Stewart and a Miss Garwood. Crippled: Harvey Selders, both legs broken and one arm, with other injuries, James Johnson, badly hurt; was taken home insensible. Mrs. Frank McCulloch, badly hurt. Mrs. Drumm is supposed to be dying. At present Mrs. Walt Wright is not expected to live. Walker Lewis, one leg broken. Mrs. Wm. McCullough, badly hurt. A little baba of Mrs. Coomba, badly hurt. Judge Seldoes' two children, of Ridgeway, badly hurt. Many others are hurt, but it will be impossible to fully tell the result until morning.

Fatal Amusement.

NEW YORK, April 27.—In front of Schlesinger's store are two large arc-lights. Frederick White, a clerk, aged twenty-three, has had a habit of tapping lightly with his hand on one of the lamps whenever he came out of or entered the store. The store was closed as usual at about ten o'clock to-night, and a few minutes later White started for his lodgings. The lamps were hanging rather lower than was customary, and any one standing five foot high could have reached them. White foolishly grasped one of the wires forming the loop connecting them, and on the instant he uttered a cry of pain. He was powerless to release his hold, however, and after writhing in agony for apparently several seconds he fell dead.

Memorial Day in Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., April 27.—Memorial Day was celebrated by an entire suspension of business in the afternoon. The military and civil organizations went to Oakland Cemetery at 4 p. m. and listened to an address by Colonel Thomas G. Jones, of Montgomery, Ala. The decoration of the graves was profuse. Throughout the towns of the State there was a general suspension of business and orations were generally delivered. At Washington, Ga., a monument of Italian marble twenty-five feet high, was erected in memory of General Robert Toombs.

Anarchism Not Thriving.

CHICAGO, April 27.—To-morrow the issue of the Alarm, the paper of which A. R. Parsons, the Anarchist, was editor, will be suspended indefinitely. Difficulties partaking somewhat of a financial character, it is supposed, have caused the stoppage. It is a queer coincidence, that the day is exactly the second anniversary of the last issue of the paper by Parsons himself, the number just preceding the Haymarket bomb-throwing and containing the call, "To arms."

Frederick Continues Improving.

BERLIN, April 27.—A bulletin issued this morning says the Emperor had a good sleep last night and feels much stronger this morning. He was feverish last evening, but early this morning the fever had disappeared. His general condition is slowly improving. Prince Bismarck had an hour's interview to-day with the Emperor. The Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden and Prince Alexander of Prussia afterwards paid a visit to the Emperor.

Refreshing Rains.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA., April 27.—Fifty-one towns in Eastern and Central and Northern Iowa report more or less rain, relieving immediate apprehension of drought.

KANSAS CITY, April 27.—Dispatches to the Associated Press from various points in Kansas report copious and general rains throughout the State. All grain is said to be in splendid condition.

Invalid Pension Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The House Committee on Invalid Pensions will report a bill providing that all persons who are or who may become totally helpless from injuries received or diseases contracted while in the military or naval service of the United States shall receive a pension of $72 per month

It is said that the system of pool-selling on horse races as conducted in Washington is surpassed in bare-faced robbery only by the war tariff.

Twenty-seven hundred bills have been offered during the present session of the General Assembly. Fourteen hundred of these have not reached the Governor.

The new gunboat Yorktown, launched Saturday at Chester, Pa., was christened by Miss Eleanor Breckinridge, the accomplished young daughter of Representative W.C.P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky.

The Indiana Democrats held a harmonious and enthusiastic State convention last week. They adopted a strong platform and indorsed Cleveland and Gray for President and Vice President. For Governor they nominated C. C. Matson, and for Lieutenant Governor, Wm. R. Meyers.

A Soldier's National Convention has been called to meet at Cincinnati on May 14th. The call is addressed to all Union soldiers in favor of a law making every soldier's honorable discharge his pension certificate for life. Such a law as this would reduce the surplus with a vengeance.

The President has put an end to the question of the Chief-Justiceship by the appointment of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago. The appointment is quite a surprise, but one which will doubtless give general satisfaction, owing to the high character and great ability of Mr. Fuller. He is not a partisan but a Democrat from principle. He was not an applicant for the position and was much surprised on being informed of it.

The Tate Investigation.

[Courier-Journal.]

The much talked of I O U's are fully spread before the public, and while they show that a vicious, wholly inexcusable system—or the lack of sytem—prevailed in the State Treasury, they do not show that corruption existed there, nor do they, in any manner, account for the defalcation. As a matter of fact, these papers are, in many cases, evidences of a seeming indebtedness only, a fact which will be clearly shown when they are examined in the light that can only be thrown upon them from the warrant books in the Auditor's office. They are evidences of a slip-shod method of conducting the public business, and many of them are valueless, save as they may serve as awful examples for present and future State officers, warning them that there can be no safety outside the straight and narrow path of official and personal rectitude.

But where has the money gone? Heaven only knows. It is doubtful if Tate could say fully. Certainly the Commissioners have not discovered where the leak began or ended and yet they have done their work marvelously well. They found a forgery but the money was already gone at that time, else the forgery would not have become a financial necessity. It has been guessed at Tate speculated, yet no one dare, no word of pen, has been given to prove that assertion. He is probably a defaulter for years; he held office too long; the sum grew upon him from year to year, until at last, his defection was certain, he cast honor, name and family aside and fled from the sight of those who had honored and loved him.

As for the remainder of the story, it can only be told by the new traveling bag he had with him when he last visited the Treasury. The little bag went away with him and couldn't talk if it were found.

Money talks, but not the money that Mr. Tate took with him. That is as silent as if it were golden.—C. J.

An eastern capitalist writes that an investment of $40,000, made by him less than three years ago, in timber lands in Kentucky, has already advanced in value ten fold, and that he thinks he may probably realize a half million dollars from his possessions in this state. This gets away with investment in Kansas City, Wichita, Birmingham or any other booming city we've heard of.—Bourbon News.

The Kentucky Legislature ought to be ashamed of itself. By its order a salute of seventeen guns was fired at the State Arsenal at Frankfort on St. Patrick's Day in honor of heaven knows what. There would be as much sense in that body requiring all Kentuckians to explode fire-crackers in celebration of the Chinese new year as there was in setting those guns booming to please a few Irishmen who ought to be Americans.—America.

Mr. B. F. Parsons, president of the largest woolen mill company in Rhode Island, says: I have been a woolen manufacturer all my life, and have also been a Republican, but as long as the Republicans keep howling for high tariff I shall not vote that ticket. We are tired of it East. We must have free wool, and a low ad valorem duty. The New England States were formerly the strongholds of Republicanism, but this is rapidly changing, as you can readily see by the vote in Rhode Island. Whenever it is necessary for the Republican party to buy votes in Rhode Island $10 per head, things are getting in a bad strait. So aroused have the Eastern manufacturers become over their financial straits of the past few years, that I feel almost positive in saying that the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire will go Democratic at the next election. This would seriously disturb the present Republican calculations, but I am sincere in my belief. To show you the disastrous effects of the present duty on wool I will cite you an example: One of the largest woolen mills in Rhode Island, owned by Sayles & Co., at Pasco, has for a year past been running its force of nearly 1,000 employes in sections. One section works a week and the other section the next week. This keeps them from starvation and the hands are glad to get that much. Republicans and Democrats are alike when it comes to consulting their business interests, and that is just the way we feel about it. Cleveland will get votes East that he never got before, and mine will be one of them.

The President's Tariff Policy Indorsed.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

As Louisiana is about the only State in the Union in which sugar raising enter into the products of the State to any extent, the 80,000 Democratic majority rendered in last weeks election cannot only be considered an indorsement of the position assumed by the Democrats on the sugar-tax question, but an indorsement of President Cleveland's position on the tariff.

A Pathetic Page of History.

[Philadelphia Herald.]

One of the most genuine tragedies, one of the most pathetic pages of history, is now presented to the world in Berlin. The brave Emperor Frederick, who has barely succeeded to the honor and dignities for which he is so admirably fitted, is slowly passing his last hours in dreadful agony, and yet working as hard as he can on a task of love for his people, a draft of a new constitution under which he hopes they may live better and more happily together when he is gone. Not the least sad phase of this case is that the son who must soon succeed this noble and heroic character is unworthy of so exalted a father, does not appreciate or care for his best ambitions, and is suspected of a desire which were better suited to a mediæval monarch than the head of the foremost nation in Continental Europe, a desire to seek war as the only pathway to the glory of his people.

Robert Burns Wilson, the Kentucky poet, is receiving much social attention in New York, where his fine poetic talent has won for him the admiration and friendship of the leading literateurs.

The State Equalization Board Bill has passed the House. The Republicans fought the bill because in its present shape it allows the Governor to appoint the members of board, one from each Appellate district.

Kentucky the Best State in the Union.

So says the well-known immigration agent, Mr. Herman Lemcke, for many years employed by the Canadian government, and well-known through the numerous books he has written on the advantages of America, now in Louisville. Mr. Lemcke in future will devote his time to inducing German, Swiss, Austrian, Norwegian, Swodish and Danish emigrants to come to Kentucky. He says:

"I have been all over this country and know the advantages of every state, but considered Kentucky as the best location for immigrants, and in future my efforts will be directed toward bringing my countrymen to this state. Kentucky is centrally located, has a good soil well adapted for the kind of farming in which the Germans engage, and has scenery that never fails to attract and please my fellow-countrymen Then I have been in consultation with Mr. Smith and other railroad men, and feel that the immigrants will be given reasonable rates in shipping their product. I am carrying on this work in conjunction with Mr. Proctor of the geological survey, and am confident that both the immigrants and the state will be benefitted by our efforts.

"I am constantly in correspondence with independent farmers seeking advice upon the question of location in the United States. Many inquire about southern California, but I always tell them that it is my firm conviction that Kentucky is the best location they can find. German immigrants will be encouraged to come here not only from Europe, but those already in America will be shown the advantage of a change of location. The farmers whom it is sought to bring here are only such as can support themselves for at least three years. Most of those in correspondence with me are worth $3,000 or more, and will be able to firmly establish themselves. A man who cannot support himself for a time is always an almost worthless immigrant. He himself gets discouraged, and represents to his fellow-countrymen that the land where he has settled is unable to give him a suitable support."—Louisville Post.

WONDERFUL CURES.

W. D. Hoyt & Co., Wholesale and Retail Druggists of Rome, Ga., says: We have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery Eclectric Bitters and Bucklen's Arnica Salve for two years. Have never handled remedies that sell as well, or give such universal satisfaction There have been some wonderful cures effected by these medicines in this city. Several cases of pronounced Consumption have been entirely cured by the use of a few bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery, taken in connection with Eclectric Bitters. We guarantee them always. For sale at R. F. Vinson's Drug Store.

A country editor in Missouri has been doing some thinking lately with the following unique results:

"An editor works 363¼ days in a year to get out 52 issues of a paper; that's labor. Once in awhile a subscriber pays a year in advance for his paper; that's capital; and once in awhile some son-of-a-sea-cook of a dead-beat takes the paper for two or three years, then skips out without paying for it; that's anarchy; but then later on justice will overtake the last named animal—that's hell."

The language is not remarkable for its grace, but it is vigorous and conveys a very excellent quality of truth.—Ex.

GREATLY EXCITED.

Not a few of the citizens of Louisa have recently become greatly excited over the astounding facts, that several of their friends who had been pronounced incurable and beyond all hope—suffering from that dreaded monster, Consumption—have been completely cured by Dr. King's New Medical Discovery for Consumption, the only remedy that does positively cure all throat and lung diseases, Coughs Colds, Asthma and Bronchitis. Trial bottle free at R. F. Vinson's Drug store. Large bottles $1.

Sleepless Nights, made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the Remedy for you. R. F. Vinson, Druggist.

Mr. T. C. Songer and family, of Georgia, are visiting here. Mr. Songer will soon return South, but Mrs. Songer and little son will spend some time with her mother, Mrs. Sullivan.

That Highway of Nations,

The broad Atlantic, is ever a stormy thoroughfare. Let blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so loftily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the centres of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, seasickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains, used in fact all old salts and veteran travelers, are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far West should use it as a safeguard against malaria. Seek the aid of the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital powers.

Mr. Arthur Hughes, of Star Furnace, has taken a position in the establishment of Mr. J. A. Hughes at this place.

Mrs. D. H. Carpenter and Mrs. Shearer, of Catlettsburg, who have been visiting in Louisa returned home Tuesday.

Misses Ruby Holt and Martha Roberts, who are attending the Normal school in Boyd county, spent Sunday with home folks near this place.

Mrs. A. J. Reece, of Centralia, Mo., arrived here Monday on her way to the home of her father, "Uncle" Lys Garred, who has been quite ill for some time.

Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures Consumption. R. F. Vinson, Druggist.

Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace and Miss Hermia Northup returned last week from a visit to New York. Mrs. Wallace left Friday to join her husband at Frankfort.

Silver Watches from $10. to $30. Gold Watches, $25 to $65. Gold Pens, Pencils, Pins of all kinds, Plated and Gold. Diamonds, ear drops, &c. at S. & G.

Arch Montmullin, of Ashland, who has for some time been in the employ of Mr. B. F. Thomas at this place, took a position on the N. & W. R. R. engineering corps which left here Monday morning.

King's Combination Spectacles. Have your eyes tested and get glasses that will improve your sight and not blind you. Don't buy Window-glass spectacles, but go to SULLIVAN & GALLUP.

Smith Crabtree, who was sent from this county to the asylum at Lexington a short time ago, escaped from that institution a few days since and returned to this place. The Superintendent telegraphed here to have Crabtree returned, but he cannot be found.

CLOCKS:—We are in the business and can meet any competition in our line. When you buy of us you get a guarantee and we know what the goods are and you can count on it. Buy where you get goods that are as represented—that's S. & G.

The Board of Church extension of the M. E. Church South has given the church at this place $300 to be used in paying its indebtedness. Also, the board of Church Extension of the M. E. Church has given the Louisa Church of that denomination $400 to aid in erecting a new building.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy. Freese & Norris.

Democratic Convention.

The Democrats of Lawrence county are requested to meet in mass convention in Louisa, Ky., on May 5th, 1888, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the State Convention, which is to be held in the city of Lexington on May 16th, 1888.

AUGUSTUS SNYDER,
Ch'll Lawrence Co. Com.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflammation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eyesalve will subdue the inflammation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing eye-sight. 25 cents a box. Sold by Freese & Norris.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership existing prior to March 28th, 1888, between L. C. Hawes & Company has been dissolved, L. C. Hawes having sold his interest to Cooksey, Burton & Co., who assume all indebtedness and collect all amounts due the firm of L. C. Hawes Co.

A Family Blessing.

Simmons Liver Regulator, the favorite home remedy is entirely vegetable, and is the purest and best family medicine that is compounded. No error to be feared in administering; no injury from exposure after taking; no loss of time. It is the best preventative medicine and safe to take, no matter what the sickness may prove to be, and, in any ordinary disease, will effect a speedy cure. Demand the genuine, having the Z-stamp on Wrapper.

Mr. Weger, S. & G.'s jeweler, is a workman of twenty years experience. All his work guaranteed.

For letter-heads, note-heads, envelopes, posters, tags, or anything in the job-printing line, call at this office.

An engineering corps in the employ of the Norfolk & Western railroad spent Saturday and Sunday in Louisa. On Monday they left for Warfield to begin the location of a line. It is proposed to extend the road from Pocahontas, Va., to the Ohio river, following the Tug fork of the Big Sandy river the greater part of the distance. Two corps are now at work locating a line. A connection will be made with the Chatteroi at this place, or the road will leave Tug river several miles above this place and go down Twelve Pole to Ceredo.

The Danger Before Us.

We have already alluded to the importance of housekeepers paying more attention to the kind of powder used in leavening their bread. This is a matter to which we cannot draw attention too often, because it is something which involves the most serious consequences to the general body of mankind. Temperance apostles tell us—and there is ample foundation for the statement—that there is disease, both moral and physical, in the intoxicating cup; and in the same way there is disease, slow perhaps, but certain in the lime and alum leavening agents employed in many of the homes on this continent.

No punishment is too severe for those manufacturers who place these poisonous alum and lime baking powders before the public with the assurance that they are pure and wholesome articles. In the belief of the truth of such statements such baking powders are largely used in the preparation of food, and in this way the poisonous logic dents are taken into the system without a suspicion of their presence. By and by come spells of headache, distress in the stomach, loss of appetite, a fluttering of the heart, the child is seized with an apparently causeless rough. The coating of the stomach is destroyed perhaps; one of the vital organs is rendered almost useless; the kidneys are attacked with Bright's disease. The health of the child is irreparably broken down; the adult becomes a shrunk invalid. These are the doings of the modern cheap baking powders that are composed of lime and alum, or that contain sulphuric or phosphatic acids.

In view of these facts surely all housewives should exercise the care that is, we know, now exercised by some in the selection of a proper brand of baking powder. She who does not do so, whether the neglect is the result of ignorance or recklessness, cannot free herself from the responsibility for the health, perhaps life, thereby endangered. No housewife need be ignorant of the quality and composition of the article which she uses to lighten her bread, biscuit and cake. The official reports of government chemists, who are certainly unprejudiced, have been published and show very clearly the quality and strength of all the baking powders in the market. The Royal Baking powder, which is accessible at every hand, is reported absolutely free from lime, alum, phosphatic acid or any injurious ingredient. It is further stated by the most eminent authorities on food hygiene that food leavened with it is more wholesome than when raised by any other method. Its use is therefore to be commended. It is to be regretted that no other baking powder, when there are so many in the market, some of which will find their way into use, is free from all of these substances. The official analysts assure us, however, that all except the Royal contain either lime or alum. The housekeeper who regards the health of her loved ones should not only order the Royal, but make personal examination to be sure that no other brand is sent her in its place.

Edmond's Branch.

Miss Fannie Cooksey, daughter of the late Wm. Cooksey, departed this life on the 30th ult., at the age of 15. She leaves a large number of friends and relatives to mourn their loss.

In Memoriam.

Died, at her home in Lawrence county, little Nellie Hawes, daughter of Belmiler Hawes, of measles, on the 19th day of April she fell asleep and has gone to rest. Her life ended just as she began to grow attractive and she was called away to the land of light and glory to live with God and the angels forever. Death enters the happiest mortal homes and claims the most beloved as his own. We press the dear hand for the last time, we whisper one sweet, sad good-bye, and then the loved face is hid from our view.

Not in cruelty or wrath
The reaper came that day.
'Twas an angel visited the earth
And bore the flower away.

I know that Nellie's happy,
With angel plumage on;
But our hearts are very desolate,
To think that Nellie's gone.

JOSEPH HUTCHINSON.

Will You Suffer with Dyspepsia and Liver complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. R. F. Vinson, druggist.

Why Of the good things of this life are sorrowfully let go on account of Dyspepsia. Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation; sold on a positive guarantee at 25 and 50 cents, by R. F. Vinson, Druggist.

Catarrh Cured, health and sweet breath secured, by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal injector free. R. F. Vinson, druggist.

EDITOR BIG SANDY NEWS:—

In looking over the list of delinquent tax payers, published in your paper last week, I was very much surprised and not a little chagrined to find that my name was upon the list. Now I wish to say through the columns of your valuable paper that I owe this county no taxes. I paid my taxes for the year 1887, that being the year for which I have been reported delinquent, the 18th day of May, 1886, and have a receipt from A. L. Shannon, S. L. C., to that effect. How is this, Mr. Sheriff.

WALLACE PRESTON.

The Sheriff, Mr. A. L. Shannon, informs us that the cause of the delinquent return of Mr. Preston was that his name was on the tax-book twice, and the list from which we copied the names of delinquents failed to state this fact. Mr. Shannon regrets very much that this has happened. It was, however, an unintentional oversight.

In looking over the list Mr. Shannon found that Mr. Malcolm Fitch, of District 6, was also published under the same circumstances; but he hopes this explanation will be a sufficient vindication.

It is hardly necessary to state that the J. M. Rice and Wm. Rice which are included in the list are not those residing in Louisa.

Acker's Blood Elixir is the only Blood Remedy guaranteed. It is a positive cure for Ulcers, Eruptions or Syphilitic Poisoning. It purifies the whole system, and banishes all Rheumatic and Neuralgic pains. We guarantee it. R. F. Vinson, Druggist.

accomplishes for everybody exactly what is claimed for it. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liniment is found in its universal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine.

The Lumberman needs it in case of accident.

The Housewife needs it for general family use.

The Canaller needs it for his teams and his men.

The Mechanic needs it always on his work bench.

The Miner needs it in case of emergency.

The Pioneer needs it—can't get along without it.

The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard.

The Steamboat man or the Boatman needs it in liberal supply afloat and ashore.

The Horse-fancier needs it—it is his best friend and safest reliance.

The Stock-grower needs it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble.

The Railroad man needs it and will need it so long as his life is a round of accidents and dangers.

The Backwoodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidote for the dangers to life, limb and comfort which surround the pioneer.

The Merchant needs it about his store among his employees. Accidents will happen; and when these come the Mustang Liniment is wanted at once.

Keep a Bottle in the House. 'Tis the best of economy.

Keep a Bottle in the Factory. Its immediate use in case of accident saves pain and loss of wages.

SIXTY-FOUR.

Years so many! Sixty-four,
All come knocking at my door.
First, the tiny baby years,
Ripe with smiles and ripe with tears.

Then the buoyant, childish ones,
Rejoicing in the summer suns,
Heeding not the winter's cold
While wrapt in love's protecting fold.

And now the youthful maiden years,
Timid joys and trembling fears,
Hoping for a future bright,
Without the gloom of sorrow's night.

Then come the years of woman's life,
Sometimes peace and sometimes strife,
Fond caressing, trials borne,
Sad nights following brightest morn.

Mother's cares and wifely love,
Blessed by God in Heaven above,
Liaping prayers and baby smiles,
Shielding one from Satan's wiles.

And last, the years of ripe old age,
Gliding down as memory's page
At deeds and thoughts of other years,
With joys all passed and dried up tears.

Thus, thus they gather all around,
Years so many to me bound;
They are now but sixty-four—
Will any more knock at my door?

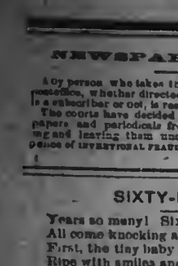
DAVE SUMMERS.

His Own Story of a Romance and Its Ending.

[Written for This Paper.]

CHAPTER I.



AR ain't no frolic in whut I'm gwine ter tell. I know dat some folks thinks dater nigger's life is made up o' laxinis an' skylarkin,' bnt dat belief,' 'specially in my case, ain't de truf. O, I had my fun w'en I wuz er youngster. Itless you, dar want er pusson in de neighborhood dat hankered after mischief nuo' den Davo Summers did, but 'stead o' oie age bringin' dnt peace an' rest which, clah in de likely time o' youth, sensible pussons looks forward ter, dar come trouble o' de blackest sort.

W'en I wuz erbout fifty years oie, de notion got inter my head dnt I oughter preach. I doan know how it got dar—sholy not becaze I had been thinkin' erbout it—fur de fust thing I know'd er bout it wuz wakin' up one mawnin' wid do idee. I talked wid somo o' my frien's en' da said, "Dave, dat is er call, au' you better not be progickin' wid it. De speret wants ye ter fling yer voice ister do gospul work an' you better not make or Jonah o' yerse'f by tryin' ter run orway."

"But bow's I gwine ter preach!" I nxed. "It's bout ex much ez I ken do ter read."

"De Lawd ain't nxed yer ter read," ono o' my frion's says. "He axes yer ter preach; of you ken read er little, you ken l'arn bow ter read mo'."

I went erway, mighty troubled in my mino. My wife had been dead fur sebrel years, an' not habin' any chilliun I libed by myse'f in a cabin on or big plnn'tion. I shot myscif up an' prayed. De nalxt mawnin' my load 'peared ter be heavior. Dnr want nothin' loft fnr me, so I says: "I will preach. I will get somebody ter l'arn mo how ter read mo' nn' I will preach do gonpul do bes' I knows how." Den I thought o' my load but it wnx 'gone. It went long till I stood np in do pulpit. Dar wus sebrel smart men in de church, an' it 'peered ter muse 'em might'ly ter yero or ignunt er man ez I wuz talk orbout hoaben an' de souls o' men. Ah, Lawd! ignuuce ken fling ox much light on some subjecs ez do greetes' nrthly wisdom ken. I went at my work in earnes', not tryin' ter git up er great 'citement, but 'deavorin' ter show do folks de rlgbt way ter live in dis worl so dn would be better prepared fur de lifo ter come; nn' of dar eber was or mau dat wuz hones' an' true ter his callin' I biebes dat I wuz de pusson.

'Mong do members o' my flock wuz er mighty likely 'oman named Frances. I wuz fust drawed toward her by her singin', an' one time when do sweetness o' her music died eway, I looked at her en' 'knowledged ter myse'f det I loved her. At fust she sung fur my soul, an' I worshiped wid her, but atter w'ile she sung ter my heart an' I worshiped her. I tried ter think o' my olo wife iyin' in do sbade o' de sycamo' trees, en' in my mino I could see do rail pen round her grave, but do naixt minit de gravo an' de trees would be gono an' in dar place would stau' n likely 'omen, snilin' at me. I went ter my olo wife's gravo en' drapped down on my knees an' prayed. De broad sycamo' leaves waved and specks o' moonlight come siftin' down like do thin' chaff o' uew oats dnt ketches de light o' de fresh bo'n day. Er mawkin' bird sung in er tree close by, but way ober on er hill, er night bawk cried. I thought how me an' my old wife had wucked in the fiel', side by nide, an' do bird scemed ter sing sweeter, but den, twixt me an' do grave dar bung or bright smile. I tried ter rub it out wid my hnn', but dar it hung, en' through its brightucas I seed do worm-eat head board o' de gravo. "O, Lawd," I prayed, "let dis tem'tation pass erway. Let dy survent in his old age hab de strcu'th ter turn fum de high-strung follies o' do youog man." I rix np, wid de damp, dead grass clingin' ter my knees. De lights gunter sbino fum de church close by, nn' de sad an' sweliin' noag o' de coogergation peared ter lay or trimbiin' hnn' en my heart. Why did I on er sudden leao argin er treet Becaze I heerd her voice. I went inter de church an' ez I walked wid bowed head toward do pulpit I heard somebody whisper: "Ho'a been in de woods ter pray." I did not look up but I knowed who it wuz dat whispered, for my heart felt de tech o' de trembiin' hnn'. I preached dat night de best I could, an' it seemed dat I ... my hearers feel somo o' my own sad... fur w'en I called fur de stricken in ... ter come up ter do mou'ners' beach ... come forwnrd don had eber come be... de'r de' fluence o'my callin'. We stayed ... church dat night. Nearly all do ... habin' wuck ter do de nnixt day, ... house wen I noticed one ... set, it 'peared like, wuz ... lay flat on de flo' an' ... red great pain. I went ... lil' bis head on ... n thinned out, one ... ar an' talked ter de po'

men. Lookin' np I seed dat Frances wus kneelin' wid uh.

"Lady—sistor Frances," I said, "it'a time dat you wuz goin' bome. De can'les is all burned eway an' do lamps is goin' out."

"I will stay an' bo'p you pour de ba'm on dis po' sinner," sho replied.

"I didn' say ne mo'; but w'en, mo' den er bour nterwards de sinner got up ter go I says ter her:

"Sister Frances, if you ain't got no 'jections, I'll wnik bomo wid you."

She smiled—de same smiio dat I had seed twixt'me an' do worm ent head b'a'd o' de grave—an' said dat she would be pleased fur me ter 'company her. I doan know whut I said ter her ex we walked erlong, but I know dst w'en we got ter de littio gato in front o' de cabin' w'ar her folks libed, she wus leanin' on my arm. De moon had gone down, an' de flutterin' in do trees in de yard told me dat de mawnin' birds wux fixin' ter begin dnr twitterin'.

"Brudder Summers," snid de lady ex I wuz erbout ter bid her good-bye, "dar 'pears ter be suthiu' on yo' mine."

"Not only on my mine, Sister Frances, but dar is anthin' on my heart."

I wnz goin' ter turn erway after dis, but she put her han' on my arm—do samo tremblin' han' dat had teched my heart—an' said:

"Tell me 'bout yo' troubies. Toll me whut is lyin' on yo' heart."

"Er trombiin han', lady."

"Does you know dat it is er han!"

"Yns, 'fur I ken see it in de light o' er bright smile."

"Is de ban' cold!"

"No, lady."

"Is it ez wa'm ez mine!" she said, ex she put her han' in my ows fever-like grasp. De naixt minit my arms wus around her. De mawnin' birds twittered in de trees, light gunter wink ereress de bottoms, an' dar, ex de gold o' do day wuz chasin' do fleetin' sliver o' do dawn, I axed her ter be my wife.

CHAPTER II.

We wuz married. I tuck her ter my cabin an' er bright light fell on my hearthstone. She wanted ter bo'p me in my wuck o' 'swadin' folks ter do right. "I know," she said, "dnt folks all er round us will be mskin' mo' money den we is, but money doan water de flowers o' de heart, nur broaden de 'joyment dat comes ter de soul." I lubed her deeper utter she said dat, fur I seed dst her natur want vain nur her heart set upon de flesh pots o' de world.

I doan know wuder I preached better ur not, but I know dat wut I said gunter hab mo' 'fluence, nu' dat folks gunter come fum fur orway plan'atlous ter yere me. My wife's folks moved away, and w'en I axed her of she didn't feel like she aughter go wid 'em, she smiled at wut she called my foolish joke, put her arms erround my nsik an' said:

"Davo, w'es I goes erway fum you I'll be toted twixt men dat will walk slow."

Two years passed orway—two o' de happies' years o' my life. Ono day dar wux some bills stuck up 'nonnein' dat Andrew Hennifen, er colored politician dat libed in town, would on de naixt Friday make er speech ter do folks. Er campaign wuz on han' an' gre't intrust wus feit in do outcome. W'en de day como de weather wuz so showery dat dn couldn' hol' de meetin' out do's, so somo o' de men come ter mo nn' axed me ef dn mout meet in de church. I didn' much think dat it wuz do right sorter meetin' ter be hel' in de house o' de Lawd, but seein' dnt da wus all so anxious, I tole 'em dat de mout. Den ds axed me ter go ober an' lissen ter de gre't speech wut de gescrman wux gwiue ter make. I didn' like de idee o' settin' in my own church nnd lissenin' ter do skussion o' do erfairs o' do worl'. Den Frances spoke up:

"W'y Dave," she said, "If we air gwine ter lib in de worl' we mus' take somo intrus' in de erfnirs o' do worl'. Ef do man hab got any thing wuth yeerin, I doan see w'y we aughtanter go an' lissen ter him. Ef we finds dat wut ho says ain't fit fur us, w'y den we ken come erway."

"Wut you says is true, Francis," I replied, "an' you mus' scuso me of I is hoidin' you back in any way. Er olo man loves wid jest es much wn'mth es er young man does, an' it is er pity dat ho doan iub wid ex much jedgment.

"You mustn't talk dst way, Dave," she said wid er isugh, "fur in lovin' mo yo' jedgmeut nin't made no mistake."

Hennifen wuz er tall, ynller man, an' wuz much younger den I 'spected ter fine him. In bis speech he used or good deal o' streng talk, an' called or lot o' folks dat wa'n't present, liars nn' thieves. I didn't like dis, but or man dat set naixt ter mo tele me dnt it wuz all rlght, an' dat ef de speaker didn't do dnter way do folks wonid think dnt bo wux erfeerd ter 'nouuce bis principics. Atter de speakin' wuz over, do speaker come up ter me, bii out his han' an' snid:

"Mr. Summers, I bas often hearn o' you, sah, nn' I takes dis 'tusity o' shakin' ban's wid you."

W'es I had shuck han's wid him, bo said: "Is dis yo' daugbter wid yout"

"My wife, soh," said I.

"Ah, I'se pleased ter meet de lady."

We walked on onton do, bouse, an' Hennifen wuz so busy talkin' 'bout do gre't principies o' his party dat he didn't seem ter notice dnt ho wuz walkin' erway fum de croud wid us. Atter w'ile bo stopped nn' said dst he reckoned he better go back.

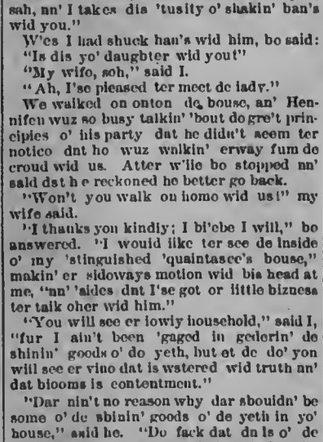
"Won't you walk on homo wid us!" my wife said.

"I thanks you kindly; I bi'ebe I will," bo answered. "I would like ter see de inside o' my 'stinguished 'quaintasce's bouse," makin' er sidoways motion wid bis head at me, "nn' 'aldes dnt I'se got or little bizness ter talk oher wid him."

"You will see er lowly household," said I, "fur I ain't been 'gaged in gederin' de shinin' goods o' do yeth, but et de do' you will see er vino dat is wstered wid truth an' dat blooms is contentment."

"Dar nin't no reason why dar sbouidn' be some o' de shinin' goods o' de yeth in yo' house," said he. "Do fack dat dn is o' de yeth doan meck 'em nono de less de Lawds, an' bein' shiny doan' meck 'em de property o' Sutnn.'\

I seed my wife look at him wi'd er quick glance, an' i knowed dat she 'proved o' wut he said. I seed mo' den dat—I seed wut until dat time had 'scaped me—I seed dat de man wuz good lookin'. I felt er pang o' oneasiness, an' I cleared my froat deep ez ef I would rasp do pang outen my bosom. W'en we got ter do house, he set down in er rockin' cheer an' mado hisse'f look freer nn' easier den I had eber felt in eny house 'cep' my own. Frances went inter de littie shed kitchin' dat j'ined de bouse an' cooked dinner. It struck mo dat she tuck er heep o' pains, specinily w'en sho fotch out er tabio clof dat I didn't know she had. Atter dinner Mr. Hennifen, said dat bo would git down ter bizoess.



HE MADE HIMSELF FREE AND EASY.

"Mr. Summers, you is too smart er man ter be wastin' yo, substance" wux de way he started out. I didn't say nothin'. He went on; "You hab got de 'bility ter make yo'se'f mighty useful ter yo' country. De 'fluence dat you has 'stablished ober yo' folter man kon be turned ter tich arcount. De bes' people in dis county wants ter 'leck Hillson fur sheriff. Dis ken only be done by good men puttin' dar shouiders ter de wheel. I is Hillson's right han' man, an' I'se got de 'thority for sayin' dat if you'll turn in an' make speeches fur bim dat he will pay yon woll."

My wife looked at me. "Mr. Hennifen," said I, "wut you say may be de truf, but I is makin' speeches fur de Lawd, Mr. Summers, needen't keep you from speakin' in faber o' Hillson."

"Dave," snid my wife, "Mr Henuifen is shoiy right, sn' mo'n dst, ef dar's er man in dis neighborhood dst needs money, you is de man. De folks dat lissuns ter you preach nober seems ter know dat we needs things in dis house."

"Frances," I replied, Mr. Hillson nin't er man o' my choice. He has bees mixed up in ugly erfairs, an' I kain't make no speeches fur him; so, let do subjeck drap right wbar it is."

Hennifen 'sisted on sayin' me,' but I tole him it want no use. He didn't stay long atter dis, but sayin' dst he would see me orgin, went erway.

"Does you aiiuz 'spect ter lib in poverty!" my wife axed.

"I doun 'spect tor meek speeches in faber o' er dishones' man," I answered.

Hennifen come back inter do neighborhood de nsixt week an' called at my house bnt I want at home. W'eu I axed Frances wut be had ter say, she said dat be didn't stay but er few minits an' didn't say much o' anythis'. Er few days atterwards I hearn dst he wus in de neighborhood ergin', workin' wid de voters, but he didn't rome ter my bouse nn' I didn't hunt him.

Nearly er munt must hsb passed w'en one day I wus called on ter preach de funui o' ec man ober in ornuder 'munity. I didn't git back till late in de night. De house wus dark, an' es I went up ter de do' I tangled my foot in de vine, stumbled an tore it up by de roots. I went in an' lit de candle. Frances wast dnr. I called her—stepped to do do' an' called her 'till de echo o' my voice brought back wid it de cry o' er night bird. I went ober ter er neighbors house. De women folks gunter cry ex soon ez da seed me. I axed of da had seen Frances.

"O, Bruder Summers, sho's dun gone wid dnt yaller raskel. He fotch er buggy an' tuck her erway."

I went down ter de sycamor' trees w'e'r my old wife wus hurled, an' got down on my knees. Dar wast no bright smile twixt me an' de grave.

CHAPTER III.

De women folks fotch flowers nearly ever' day an' put 'em in my house, an' de men folks tuck off dar hats wen da rome w'ar I wuz. I kep' on makin' speeches fur de Lawd, nn' men dst wux ouce noisy in church wus now quiet.

De 'leekshun time come on, and I kotch up my old gray boss an' rid up ter town. I west ter all do vetin' places but didn't see nobody dat I knowed. I heard one mnn say: "Wouder wut dat cuis lookin' oie man is er pokin' roun' yere fur." Den somebody answered: "Dnrs er yaller men dodgin' round yere somo whar dnt mout fling some light on dat question." Ever' time I bearn o' any p'litical ter-do nny whar, I rid dar, but didn't see nobody dat I knowed.

Winter time come, de col'est winter dst I ebor felt. One Sunday dar como er heavy snow, an' dat night it turued so col' dat I could hardly keep wa'm by do fire. Do win' biowed bard. Sutbin' flapped ergin de winder. I hii de candie an' dar seed do great starin' eyes o' or night bird. I turned erway an' had jes sot down by de fire w'en I hearn er noise at de do'; I liasened, an' den I bearn er groan. My heart felt do tech o' er cold han' nn' I knowed dat Frances had come back. I opened de do'; sho lay on de groun' wid her face turned up. I tuck her in my arms an' laid her on de bed.

"Dave—Dave, won't you forgib me!"

I stood lookin' at her. "O won't you furgib me! De Lawd bas pardoned me an' I has come back ter nx you—you——"

"Yas," I said, "yas, po' child. Go ter sleep in peace."

—As soon as fermentation begins in manure some of its substance is given off in gas, but if this fermentation goes on in the soil it will be slow, and the products of the decny can be used by crops, not to speak of the advnntage to the soil from the fermentation, which decomposes the inert nltrogen compounds in the humus and disintegrates other insoluble matters. After all, then, it may be better practico to turn under manure while fresh than to wait for the well-rotted manure so generally praised. —Western Plowman.

—If fruits of any kind are to be set out, see that the supply be purchased and the ground picked out and prepared, the stakes set, so that when the time shall come for transplanting there need be no delay. With many spring is considered the best time for setting out fruit, and if this plan be intended, so far as possible, the work should be done onrly, so that the trees or plants will be able to make a good start to grow before hot, dry weather shall have set in.

A POWERFUL ARGUMENT.

An Educational Journal's Able Comments on Newspapers and Schools.

No charge is more persistently made by a portion of the daily press than the impeachment of the public school system, as awakening great expectations in ordinary American children which can never be realized. "The public schools turn out the boys with extravagant aspirations for professional and public life, and the girls fired with longing for elegant life up-stairs, or genteel work in some of the attractive new callings open to women. No public school graduate willingly comes down to manual labor, and nobody desires to be a common person." Some of the over-zealous advocates of manual training in public education appear to be largely influenced by this consideration, and urge industrial education, as one eminent advocate puts it, on the ground that, thus modified, the common schools may be good for something for common people. But in no region of American life is there so little of this unhealthy expectation, either inculcated or encouraged, as in the better class of our public schools. If the teacher is a true American he will impress on boys and girls the fact that American citizenship is the noblest heritage of opportunity and responsibility. Beyond this we believe there is no real basis for the charge above mentioned. But in several ways the press itself, with all its unquestionable merits, does work the very demoralization spoken of, by the present methods of journalism. One intolerable nuisance is the growing habit of magnifying the social standing of multitudes of excitable young people in the foolish "society column," where the dress, the style, the most insignificant doings and ordinary movements of many commonplace youth are seriously put forth as matters of social importance; of course inflating said youngsters with an absurd sense of their own magnificence. Another more serious offense is the magnifying of the semi-criminal lower strata of the community where crime is chiefly bred, by long descriptions and elaborate record of such of the number as actually get before the courts. Thousands of people of whom a well-ordered community knows nothing in their ordinary condition are thus galvanized into a disgusting or hideous notoriety, and the impression goes abroad that vice and crime are rife among the respectable classes. Another great stimulant to imaginative children is found in the detailed descriptions of high-life, boundless wealth and marvelous changes of fortune, in the current fiction and the "correspondence columns" of the great journals. Anybody that can push a facile pen can write up any thing; all the better if he knows little or nothing valuable about it. But, somehow, the boys and girls who hang over the bewitching description get the idea that to see, enjoy, and be all this is "as easy as preaching." It is unfortunate that a great many "ready writers" for the press, even great lights of literature, have never enjoyed a school discipline sufficiently thorough to learn that nothing brings down a flighty girl or reduces the "big head" in a self-sufficient boy like a solid course of study, with the accompanying training in character, habits, and manners that is found nowhere better than in a good public school.—Education.

—On Sunday, when the pastor of one of the leading Presbyterian Churches in Glasgow was absent, several persons expressed dissatisfaction at seeing a stranger in the pulpit, and one lady said she would not have come if she had known that Dr. —— was not going to preach. An elder standing near very promptly replied: "Madam, the worship of Dr. —— will be resumed next Sabbath."

—Horrified matron to Miss Blank, who has just been confessing her engagement to five gentlemen: "How could you do it?" "Because I couldn't bear to hurt their feelings by saying no," was the rejoinder. The feelings of four of them upon her wedding the fifth had evidently not been taken into consideration.

—There is a joke at the expense of a certain society youth who has more cash than education, and who recently sent a basket of roses to a young lady about to sail for Europe, with his card, on which was written: "Will moat you in Paris in April. Adow!"—Troy Times.

No More Birds in Bonnets.

Ladies are no longer to wear birds on their bonnets and hats. Thus it has been decreed by fashion. The benevolent edict comes just in time to save the last remaining members of the race of humming birds and birds of paradise. The great forests of India, Brazil and the banks of the Mississippi have been ransacked, and have yielded up their treasures of winged jewels to adorn the feminine headgear. Now at last there is to be a truce to the massacre, and the pretty denizens of the woods may sing and fly awhile in peace. To estimate the extent of slaughter perpetrated for the sake of womankind's adornment, we may take the statement of a London dealer, who admits that last year he sold two million small birds of every possible kind and color, from the soft gray of the wood pigeon to the gem-like splendor of the tropical bird. Even the friendly robin has been humonted to adorn the fashionable bonnet.—London Queen.

A RACY BOOK.

Scintillating with Sarcasm and Brilliant Truth.

New York Letter.

Chap. I. "Has Malaria;" goes to Florida.
Chap. II. "Overworked;" goes to Europe.
Chap. III. "Has rheumatism;" goes to Ems.
Chap. IV. Has a row with his Doctor.

I have read a deal of sarcasm in my day but I never read anything equal to the sarcasm contained in the above four chaptered book, written by some anonymous. I suspect the experience portrayed is a personal one; the author intimates as much on page 31. Let me give you a synopsis:

"Malaria" as it states, "is the cloak with which superficial physicians cover up a multitude of ill feelings which they do not understand, and do not much care to investigate. It is also a cover for such diseases as they can not cure. When they advise their patient to travel or that he has overworked and needs rest and is probably suffering from malaria, it is a confession of ignorance or of inability."

"The patient goes abroad. The change is a tonic and for a time he feels better. Comes home. Fickle appetite, frequent headaches, severe colds, cramps, sleeplessness, irritability, tired feelings, and general unfitness for business are succeeded in due time by alarming attacks of rheumatism which flits about his body regardless of all human feelings.

"It is muscular—in his back. Articular—in his joints. Inflammatory, my! how he fears it will fly to his heart!

"Now off he goes to the sprisgs. The doctor sends him there, of course, to get well; at the same time he does not really want him to die on his hands!

That would hurt his business!

"Better for a few days. Returns. After a while neurnigin transfixes him. He bloats; can not breathe; has pneumonia; can not walk; can not sleep on his left side; is fretful; very nervous and irritable; is pale and flabby; has frequent chills and fevers; everything about him seems to go wrong; becomes auspicious; musters up courage and demands to know what is killing him!

"Great heaven!" he cries, "why have you kept me so long in ignorance!"

"Because," said the doctor, "I read your fate five years ago. I thought best to keep you ignorant of the facts."

He dismisses his doctor, but too late! His fortune has all gone in fees.

But him, what becomes of him!

The other day a well known Wall Street banker said to me "it is really astonishing how prevalent bright's disease is becoming. Two of my personal friends are now dying of it. But it is not incurable I am certain, for my nephew was recently cured when his physicians said recovery was impossible. The case seems to me to be a wonderful one." This gentleman formerly represented his government in a foreign country. He knows, appreciates and declares the value of that preparation, because his nephew, who is a son of Danish Vice-Consul Schmidt, was pronounced incurable when the remedy, Warner's safe cure, was begun. "Yes," said his father, "I was very skeptical, but since taking that remedy the boy is well."

I happen to know what it was that cured the boy, for Gen. Christiansen, of Drexel, Morgan & Co's., told me that it was that 'wonderful remedy Warner's safe cure.'

Well, I suspect the hero of the book cured himself by the same means.

I can not close my notice better than by quoting the author's advice:

"If, my friend, you have such an experience as I have portrayed, do not put your trust in physicians to the exclusion of other remedial agencies. They have no monopoly over disease and I personally know that many of them would far prefer that their patients should go to Heaven direct from their powerless hands than that they should be saved to earth by the use of any "unauthorized means."

Something Worth Reading.

OF INTEREST

TO EVERYBODY.

THALIA THEATER, New York.

I have been a sufferer from nervousness and nervous prostration for years, and have tried many things, but without the least good. Hearing so much about Dr. Greene's Nervura Nerve Tonic from my friends and others whom it cured, I at last decided to take it. Its effects are really almost magical, for it immediately takes away that nervous, restless and weak feeling of sense of exhaustion, and restores one to a perfect condition of health. It is a great boon and a wonderful blessing to nervous people. Livia Werner.

This wonderful remedy, whose praise is upon every body's lips, must be the most marvelous in its curative powers of any remedy ever discovered. We hear every day of remarkable cures of nervousness, nervous weakness, exhaustion, paralysis or other nervous diseases effected by this great nerve tonic and restorative. Here a person rescued from the grave, as was Mrs. Annie Donovan, of Allswagan, Conn.; there a case saved from that fearful disease, insanity, as was Mr. W. C. Miles, of 60 Blue Hill Avenue, Boston, Mass.; again, cures of paralysis of years' standing, like that of Mr. Alexander Hiers, of the Marine Asylum, Philadelphia, Pa., who had not been able to walk before for years; or restoration from the severest neuralgia and rheumatism, like the case of Mr. James Bown, of 37 Market Street, New York City. Cases of sleeplessness, with nervous and physical exhaustion, are very frequent, the wonderful cure of Mrs. W. F. Abbe, of 19 Adleek Street, Hartford, Conn., being only one among thousands. Altogether, the remarkable powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura Nerve Tonic in curing all forms of nervous diseases like the above and restoring to health sufferers from nervous affections have demonstrated it to be a remedy of wonderful power and at times of almost miraculous effects in curing disease.

If you are weak, tired, nervous and exhausted, with no ambition to work or do any thing, do not fail to use this marvelous remedy, for it will restore your strength, vigor and energies. It will remove all nervousness and nervous weakness. If you are sleepless, restless and wakeful nights He use will soothe, calm and quiet the nerves and give you sound, natural and refreshing sleep. If you wake tired mornings, with dull head, bad taste in the mouth, no appetite and general dispirited feeling, it will clear your head, give you an appetite, banish that tired feeling and afford you renewed life. It is the best remedy in the world and cures perfectly and completely spring debility, malaria, nervous debility, nervous and physical exhaustion from overwork, strain upon the nerves, or other cause, depression of the mind, neuralgia, paralysis, soreness, trembling, nervous and sick headaches, pain in back and side, hot flashes, palpitation and heart disease, hysteria, dyspepsia, indigestion, opium or chloral habit, etc. It is purely vegetable, and therefore harmless.

Use this remedy and you will be amazed at its wonderful toning, strengthening and invigorating effects upon both nerves and body. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle. If your druggist does not have it, he will get it for you. The discovery of this great nerve cure is Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, and he may be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.
